Hi sage-conduct committee,
A propos our discussion (re Tornaria) this morning, let me share some examples of the pattern "acting offended", which is a mild/subtle form of "playing the victim"; a performative manipulation. (This is not a report of a CoC violation.)

- Tornaria: "don't tell me what I should do with my time" (I sure didn't) https://github.com/sagemath/sage/pull/37785#discussion_r1564787139
- Tornaria: "This sounds a little bit agressive. We are both making an effort to communicate in better terms, so let's try to keep it cool and learn to agree and disagree." (in response to my simple sentence
"That's false.")
https://github.com/sagemath/sage/pull/37287#issuecomment-2067778819
- Diez (2023): "Do you really think ad hominem attacks are helpful?"
(no such thing to see wide and far)

Best,
Matthias
